Jose advised me that company has addressed it already and that company has taken this resident to court. He just wanted to document it so that it would be on record. As far particular incidents, it is not only Jose but other workers who feel the same way. Apparently this resident confronts the employees as to instigate an argument.

Vince

Thanks for sending this. The letter is very general – can you please be more specific as to the nature and dates/times of the complaints made? While we will address – it is difficult to send something that generalizes harassment.

Thanks.
